

Community Sport Fund 2021 Guidelines

BACKGROUND

The Community Sport Fund (CSF) is an initiative under ISWO's Well Nation program. The program is intended to increase opportunities for participation in sport, recreation, and physical activity while building community capacity and decreasing behaviours that can have long-term negative consequences. The CSF supports projects that utilize sport as a positive agent to impact social change, helping to achieve social development outcomes in Indigenous communities. Proposals that outline how culturally grounded sport, recreation and physical activity opportunities will support overall wellness will be considered for funding.

The CSF is intended to make community sport, physical activity, and Indigenous approaches to wellness more accessible to people of all ages and abilities. ISWO encourages remote and rural communities where sport-related opportunities are fewer, and large urban Indigenous populations where low participation rates may exist, to apply.

The CSF is supported through contributions from the Government of Canada, under STREAM 1 of the Sport for Social Development in Indigenous Communities (SSDIC) initiative, administered by Sport Canada.

OBJECTIVE

The CSF aligns with the Truth and Reconciliation's Calls to Action, which identifies four social development needs of Indigenous communities: improved health, education and employability, and reduced at-risk behaviour.

The goal of the funding is to support Indigenous communities and organizations to utilize sport, recreation, and physical activity to address these four outcomes by developing opportunities that lead to:

- Regular and ongoing sport and recreation participation;
- Enhanced leadership opportunities in sport, through training and certification programs for activity leaders such as recreation professionals, teachers, coaches, instructors, officials and volunteers;
- Acquiring adequate equipment to enhance community programming;

- Strengthened connections in a meaningful way through positive relationship-building and interactions;
- Encouraging reflection as a guide for continuous improvement, providing relevant activities and planning that enhance a holistic sense of wellness for participants;
- Offering/adapting sport opportunities and delivery to meet the needs of various Indigenous populations; and
- Building overall community capacity through sport.

APPLICATION DEADLINE:

All applications must be submitted by May 17, 2021, at 11:59 pm EST.

BUDGET

Eligible applicants are invited to apply for funding of up to $5,000 to support new, existing and/or expanded projects that address a community social development need by directly supporting new or continued sport, recreation, and physical activity participation opportunities in their communities.

WHO CAN APPLY:

- First Nation, Métis or Inuit (FNMI) community associations located in Ontario;
- Established Indigenous youth groups in Ontario;
- Indigenous not-for-profit organizations located in Ontario;
- A First Nation, Inuit, or Métis governing body, an Indigenous provincial/territorial organization or authority in Ontario; or
- Not-for-profit organizations, clubs, and associations, located in Ontario, that directly influence organized sport delivery in Indigenous communities, in consultation and collaboration with those communities.

ISWO is responsible for determining the eligibility of each applicant, their project, and project-related expenses. Please note that the CSF is intended to support communities and organizations located in the province of Ontario; all activities and programs related to the funding request must take place in the province of Ontario.

STREAMS

Applicants can either apply to STREAM 1 or STREAM 2 funding for the 2021 CSF. Please see below descriptions for each stream.

STREAM 1

Stream 1 funding is for wide-ranging community sport and recreation programming. The desired outcomes of this funding stream are to build capacity, enhance safety and wellbeing, increase confidence, education, employability, and reducing behaviours that interfere with such development. If your application is intended for the general population of any First Nation(s), Inuit and/or Métis programming, you can apply toward Stream 1 funding.

STREAM 2

Stream 2 funding is for sport and recreation initiatives specifically aimed at supporting the participation and/or retention of Indigenous women and girls and/or 2SLGBTQQIA+ (Two Spirit, lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, questioning, intersex and/or asexual) people within communities through social development outcomes as identified in Stream 1.

ELIGIBILITY

Eligible Projects

What projects and activities are eligible?

For the purposes of this fund, “sport” is being defined broadly. Activities that could be viewed as recreation or physical activity are permissible if they include a physical activity component, and are chosen and supported by the community. The CSF is distinct from sport development as it is focused on the achievement of community social development needs. Your project must also be designed in a way that includes measurable outcomes for the four community social development needs.

This fund supports projects that contribute to the following four social development outcomes:

- Improved health;
- Improved education;
- Reduced at-risk behaviour; and/or
- Improved employability.

Applicants must demonstrate how their project will:

- Lead to new or continued sport participation opportunities;
- Increase the number of people involved in organized sport activities in their community;
- Increase the capacity of the community to deliver additional or enhanced sport, recreation, and physical activity programming as a direct result of this funding; and
- In addition, stream 2 applicants must demonstrate how their project will encourage and enhance women, girl and/or 2SLGBTQQIA+ people’s participation in sport through all stages of life.

Examples of eligible projects include but are not limited to:

- Projects needing specific equipment or coaches' training to become established and to increase program participant numbers.
- An existing community project that wants to expand to incorporate a new youth or seniors' division to support overall community wellness.
- Projects developing fundamental movement skills in individuals (i.e., Active Start, FUNdamentals, Learn to Train, and/or Active for Life stages of the Canadian Sport 4 Life Indigenous Long-Term Participant Development Pathway 1.2) to support lifelong sport and physical activity participation opportunities.
- Projects that improve safety standards, risk management policies and procedures to reduce at-risk behaviour.
- Projects that include or certify new qualified instructors (i.e., National Coaching Certification Program, Making Headway in Sport Concussion Training, etc.) to support safe programming.
- Projects that will increase the capacity of the community to deliver additional or enhanced sport, recreation, and physical activity programming as a direct result of this funding.
- Projects that address barriers and improve accessibility to sport and recreation programs and opportunities for Indigenous youth, women, girls, and/or 2SLGBTQQIA+ people.
- Projects that support skill development, capacity building and leadership roles for women, girls, and/or 2SLGBTQQIA+ people, to support improved education and employability opportunities.
- Projects that increase the confidence, wellbeing, and safety of women, girls, and 2SLGBTQQIA+ people.
- Projects that support increased participation of women, girls, and 2SLGBTQQIA+ in sport and community programs.
- Projects that celebrate Indigenous ways of wellness, sport cultural teachings and traditions (i.e., traditional games, pow wow, etc.).

Eligible Expenses

What expenses are eligible?

Only project-related expenses are eligible; these may include:

- Sport and recreation equipment;
- Project administration costs up to 10% of total project request (a maximum of $500);
- Community program promotional materials;
- Honoraria for instructors, coaches, Elders, Knowledge Keepers, speakers, facilitators, etc.
- Staff training costs directly related to the project that will provide long-term benefit to the organization;
- Expenses for meetings (committee, or collaborative) directly related to the project; and/or

- Project expenses directly related to project delivery such as healthy snacks on-site, injury prevention, COVID-19 protection measures, kits for youth, first aid support, PPE, and other project supplies and equipment essential for project delivery.

Ineligible Projects

What projects and activities are NOT eligible?

- Contributions to new or existing community capital projects;
- Programs focused on sport development for high-performance athletes or for individual or team competitions;
- Events that do not align with any of the four identified social development needs;
- Activities that could be deemed discriminatory as defined by the Ontario Human Rights Code;
- Re-granting activities such as using Community Sport Funds to provide grants to other organizations;
- Activities that take place outside of Ontario;
- Activities and projects that are not open to the public or to a large segment of the community in which they operate;
- Political or religious activities; and
- Projects generating revenues.

Ineligible Expenses

Ineligible expenses include:

- Fees for tournaments, competitions, and athlete travel.
- General operating expenses (existing staff salaries, office rent, regular promotional or marketing activities).
- Capital expenditures (renovation, construction, computer equipment, transformation of permanent spaces, parks, or grounds; furniture, fixtures, or other non-portable equipment).
- Costs associated with high performance athlete training.
- Deficits incurred from past activities.
- Prizes, awards, medals, trophies, and banquets.
- Personal electronic devices, or clothing.
- Project expenses covered by other sources of funding (i.e., government grants, foundations, donations, etc.).
- Administrative expenses related to an organization's ongoing business activities, such as salaries, rent, utilities, telephone, regular website development/maintenance, and communication services.

- Legal/audit fees, annual general meetings, budget deficits, membership fees, and fundraising activities.
- Costs associated with political meetings or religious activities.
- Contingency or unexplained expenses.
- Marketing/promotional activities not specifically related to the project.
- Refundable Harmonized Sales Tax (HST).
- Any expense incurred before receiving confirmation of funding from ISWO.

HOW TO APPLY

Read the CSF Application Guidelines in their entirety before completing the CSF Application. You must meet all the eligibility criteria requirements and submit a complete application package to be considered for funding. A complete application package includes the Application Form and letter of support from the leadership of the Indigenous community or organization benefiting from the project.

APPLICATION EVALUATION CRITERIA

The CSF supports projects that are designed to utilize sport to address community social development needs. It is important to provide a clear outline of how you plan to evaluate and measure the impact of your project, which could include a change in participants' attitudes or behaviours.

Evaluation will be based on project applications that best meet the following criteria:

- Align with the purpose of the grant and the four social development outcomes listed;
- Demonstrate an acceptable use of funds;
- Respond to a specific community need;
- Demonstrate organizational capacity to complete the proposed project;
- Include clear and achievable objectives, and measurable results;
- Include consideration and planning of any local Covid-19 guidelines and limitations impact on programming; and
- Provide clear measures or indicators to determine the success of the project.

APPLICATION ASSESSMENT

Project applications must address the needs and culture of the community benefiting from the CSF, and where possible be delivered by members of that community.

Applications will be assessed based on how well they address the following:

1. Eligibility
 - a. Your organization meets the eligibility requirements set out above; and
 - b. Your project meets the project eligibility criteria set out above.
2. Project need and rationale:
 - a. The project clearly identifies the specific social development need of the community and how the project will address it.
3. Project workplan, timelines and feasibility:
 - a. The application must clearly demonstrate how it will identify and address the objectives of the CSF.
 - b. The application provides a clear description of each project with details about age ranges, location, participant numbers, frequency of program and description of all activities to take place; and
 - c. Timelines are clear and feasible.
4. Measurable outcomes:
 - a. The outcomes of the project are clearly linked to the project objectives, (i.e., one or more of the social outcomes identified above); and
 - b. They are specific and measurable (they can be qualitative and/or quantitative).
5. Project budget:
 - a. Project costs are reasonable, and details support the project's description.

It is anticipated that more applications will be received than can be funded, and therefore only eligible applications will be reviewed; however, please note that meeting all the eligibility criteria does not guarantee funding. Applicants may be contacted to provide further information regarding their proposal before final funding selections are confirmed.

ISWO is unable to fund expenses incurred prior to receiving your application. If you incur expenses for your project before receiving written confirmation of your funding approval, you will be doing so at your own risk.

FUNDING CONDITIONS

Project Timelines

Selected projects MUST be completed by October 31, 2021. Any project funds not spent on eligible project expenses by October 31, 2021 must be returned to ISWO. An extension to spend funding past October 31, 2021 may be considered if submitted to ISWO in writing by October 1, 2021.

Reporting Requirements

- An interim report completed via email or over the phone.
- A final report due 15 days after completing your project or by November 15, 2021 (an on-line reporting form outline will be provided for completion for successful applicants).
- A meeting with ISWO staff (over the phone or via a video meeting platform) to share the success of your program.

Ongoing Communications

- All CSF grant recipients will be assigned a primary contact person from ISWO to provide support and guidance for their project.
- Any proposed changes to the project, such as budget or timelines, must be communicated in writing and require approval from your ISWO contact.

Project Products

Recipients who receive funds through the CSF are encouraged to use creative ways to record project activities and successes. A sample of images, videos, interviews, voice recordings and promotional materials (as applicable) for the funded project are required as part of the report submission. If possible, images and video should be of high-resolution quality, for use on the ISWO website and to include in reports intended for the Government of Canada.

Recipients who receive funds through the CSF must consent to the release of photographs, interviews, voice recordings or digital video recordings, for either publication, exhibition, or reproduction to be used for ISWO's own news, webcasts, promotional purposes, telecasts, advertising, inclusion on our websites, social media, or any other purpose by ISWO and its affiliates and representatives.

To ensure that the impacts of the CSF projects are shared widely, successful applicants may be asked to participate in interviews on their experience in receiving this funding; to provide letters from project participants detailing how the project impacted them; or agree to participate in follow-up communications at the discretion of the CSF committee.

Acknowledgement

Support from ISWO and the Government of Canada must be appropriately acknowledged on all materials related to the funded project. Formats and guidelines for logo use and acknowledgement of funding will be provided to successful applicants. The use of the logo on all program promotional materials must be approved by ISWO.
